Why a market approach?

- Everybody who buys a horse has choices.
- Other breeds educate and market aggressively.
- We have more supply than demand.
- The farms, individuals, and organizations that train and place these horses do not have their own marketing departments or even their own network.

Who should deliver the message?

- Trainers and leaders in the sport horse world
- Thoroughbred horses themselves

Who is the RRTTP?

- Board of Directors from sport and racing
- 20,000 online followers
- 3,000 who attended Trainer Challenge
- Contributors

Delivering Horse People to Racing

- Focus educational efforts on the quality of horsemanship in the racing industry
- Teaching the same skills to sport horse riders that Chris McCarron teaches at his jockey school: balance, good hands, how to settle a horse.
- Bring sport horse people to the backstretch and to training centers for seminars and clinics.

Our ultimate goals.

- A resurgence in the popularity of Thoroughbred Ex-Racehorses
- Fewer “unwanted” Thoroughbreds
- Higher prices for sound horses when they retire from racing
- Less incentive to run them cheap
- More incentive to retire them sound
- Better horsemanship throughout the horse world
- More racing fans
- More racing owners
